Description of Services:

The Anchorage School District SES program provides intervention and remedial instruction to students in small groups at the student's school. Days and times for tutoring vary depending on the school, needs of the student, and the availability of other programs at the school. The ASD tutoring program involves the school's teachers using research-based content to deliver intervention and remedial instruction. Pre and post assessments as well as progress monitoring are used to determine academic growth and the relative success of interventions and remediation. Instruction can be in small groups and/or computer-based instruction, depending on the school and the needs of the student. Monthly progress reports are shared with parents.

The Anchorage School District's demonstrated effectiveness in providing instruction to all public school students can be confirmed by looking at standardized testing results and trends. To review ASD students' standardized testing performance on, for example, the High School Graduation Qualifying Examination, Alaska Standards Based Assessment or TerraNova Cat/6, go online to www.asdk12.org/depts/assess\_eval/. This Web site includes the number and ages of the students and which standardized tests were used to assess learning outcomes. The results are broken down so the user can see data for different student subgroups. This Web site also contains links to the Alaska Department of Education and Early Development, which approves the tests and validates the results.
